Brand Graphics

Normal Photos

Photography is crucial part of the our brand identity. Photos should always be professional and of high quality.

Amateur photos can be used for publications, such as news, blogs etc.

Brand Graphics

Blue colour photo treatment

Whenever photos are used as a generic background where they play secondary role, a graphical treatment is recommended.

For the purpose of this brand book it's called "Blue Colour Photo Treatment".

Brand Graphics

Brand Graphics

Blue colour photo treatment - creation method

The creation method is described as a generic one, that most of the graphical software are supporting (i.e. Photoshop, Illustrator).

- Convert the desired photo to greyscale
 - Create new layer above the greyscale photo, and set up a blending mode to Multiply/Darken.
- Sometimes the greyscale photo will require some retouching - brightness/contrast.

After creating the image, always flatten the layers before sending, as in some cases like viewing a pdf file from a web browser may not show the desired results, or may appear corrupted.

10 FINA Brand Guidelines

Creation method

1st layer:

2nd layer:

✓ Full screen/page pictures

✓ Irregular grids are highly recommended, spaces between the photos are not required.

✓ Small Irregular grids

✓ ✗ Regular grid - try to avoid using regular grids in printed materials. If used - use with blank spaces between. For digital usage it's accepted.

✗ Don't use different than rectangle/square shapes for photos.

✗ Don't use different photo description style in one document, and try to keep consistency throughout the documents.

Brand Graphics

Placing logos on pictures

If the logos are placed on the pictures as a secondary element (not part of the main graphic theme, such as watermarks), use the right lower corner as a primary logo placement area.

If the image doesn't allow the logo to be legible in the right lower corner, place it in other corners respecting the safe areas.

This applies to all logo types.

The minimum size shows the smallest allowed usage of the logo. This is to prevent the logo or part of it from being illegible, as long as the minimum font size is not smaller than 8 pt.

Corporate logo

Use on different backgrounds

In general - don't use FINA corporate logos on backgrounds that are different colour schemes than white/light/blue/dark blue.

Proper usage:

1. Acceptable on light - solid, gradient or patterned backgrounds - white/grey.
2. Acceptable on fairly uniform blue/dark backgrounds.
3. Galleries/multiple photos - due to the nature of photos, it's recommended to use the The Recycling Lottery logo on a small square (to keep consistency within a gallery)

Incorrect use of logos:

1. Don't use logos in a way that makes it illegible - e.g. dark logo on dark background, logo on complicated backgrounds.
